BOWLING · AGES 11 TO 13

Ages 11 to 13: three calm weeks before tryouts.

Short sessions at home are enough to arrive ready.

3 sessions a week of 15 to 20 minutes, from SSTracker's at-home bowling plans for 11 to 13 year olds. Two weeks build up, the third eases off, and the day before tryouts is a rest day.[1]

WEEKS	SESSIONS A WEEK	MINUTES A SESSION[2]
3	3, at most	15 to 20

Two weeks build up, then the last week eases off.

Week 1	Learn the sessions, one day at a time. Do sessions 1, 2 and 3, with a rest day between. Write your self-check number in session 1.
Week 2	The same sessions again, a little smoother. Repeat sessions 1, 2 and 3. Let your child lead the one they like most.
Week 3	Lighter, so your child arrives fresh. Sessions 1 and 2 early in the week, with the self-check again in session 1. Rest the day before tryouts.

With two weeks to go, start at week 2. With four weeks, do week 1 twice. Pick days that fit your week, with a rest day between sessions.

1. Sessions: SSTracker's at-home bowling plans for 11 to 13 year olds. Every drill here is open at ages 11 to 13 in the app.
2. Session limits: SSTracker's own rule for age 11, at most 4 days a week and 45 minutes a session.

Every area coaches watch at tryouts is something that grows.

Many tryouts look at a few areas like these. SSTracker's own tryout notes use these five, a coach notes only what they saw, and there is no overall grade.[1]

Pace	Quick first steps grow with practice and with rest. Arriving fresh helps more than one extra hard day.
Technique	Clean touches grow with many short, calm tries. The sessions here give your child lots of them.
Reading the game	Looking up and choosing well grow by playing. After a game, ask about one good choice they made.
Physical	Balance, landing and core strength are part of every warm-up here. Every body grows at its own pace.
Attitude	Trying again after a mistake, listening and cheering a teammate are things every player can bring.

Skills these sessions train: Lane Reading, Aim, Spares, Release, Approach.

Your child compares only with their own earlier number.

The test: Arrows and Boards Map: your own number.

1. Tryout areas: the five areas in SSTracker's own tryout notes for coaches.

Every session starts with the same moving warm-up.

Bowling Warm-Up, Ages 11 to 13[1]

1. Jog easy for 1 minute, then skip, side shuffle and backpedal for 1 minute.
2. Moving warm-up over 10 to 15 yards and back: high knees, heel flicks, carioca each way, then open-the-gate and close-the-gate walks (lift the knee and turn it out, then in).
3. Leg swings, 10 forward and back and 10 side to side each leg; then walking lunges with a twist toward the front knee, 6 each leg.
4. Plank on your forearms for 20 seconds, then a side plank for 15 seconds each side, body straight like a board.
5. Balance on one leg for 20 seconds each side, reaching the free foot slowly forward, to the side and behind.
6. Jumps: 5 squat jumps with soft landings, then 5 side hops landing on one foot and holding still for 2 seconds, each leg.
7. Build-up runs: three runs of about 15 yards at half speed, three-quarter speed and nearly full speed; walk back each time.
8. Sport moves: slow arm swings forward and back with no ball, then walk through your approach 3 times at an easy pace.

In these sessions the warm-up is the short version, 4 minutes: steps 1, 6 and 8. The full routine takes 10 minutes.

A flat, clear space with room to run. Stop if anything hurts: a warm-up should leave you ready, not tired.

Every session ends with a few minutes of gentle stretches.

Bowling Cool-Down Stretches, Ages 11 to 13: each stretch held 15 to 20 seconds, never to pain.

In these sessions the cool-down is the short version, 3 minutes: steps 1 to 4 only. The full routine takes 6 minutes.

1. Warm-up and cool-down: SSTracker's routines for this age, with the research at sstracker.app/warm-ups-and-stretches.

Have these ready before the first session.

Pack the bag together the day before.

ON TRYOUT DAY

- What the program asks for: read its sign-up together.
- A full water bottle.
- The shoes and gear your child trains in, already worn in.
- Any safety gear the program asks for.
- A snack and a warm layer for after.

The night before, calm matters more than practice.

- No new drills tonight. The work is already done.
- Pack the bag together, then set it by the door.
- A normal dinner, some water and the usual bedtime.
- Tell your child one thing you saw them grow at in these weeks.
- Nerves are normal. Say so, and that you feel them too sometimes.
- Whatever happens tomorrow, your love and pride stay the same.

AFTER TRYOUTS

- Ask what was fun, and what they want to practice next.
- Talk about their own growth, never about other children.

When to stop

- Stop if anything hurts, knees and heels too.
- Stop if landings get noisy or wobbly, or form breaks down. Rest, then try again easier.
- Thunder: go inside. Heat signs (dizzy, headache, feeling sick, confused, unusually tired): stop, rest in the shade and drink water.

After a knock to the head [1]

- Stop right away. No more play today. See a doctor before playing again.
- Call 911 for danger signs: throwing up again and again, a seizure, can't stay awake, a headache that gets worse, slurred speech, or one pupil bigger than the other.

Whatever happens at tryouts, your child is enough.

Practice makes progress, because there is no such thing as perfect.
