DIVING · AGES 7 TO 10

Ages 7 to 10: three calm weeks before tryouts.

Short sessions at home are enough to arrive ready.

3 sessions a week of 15 to 20 minutes, from SSTracker's at-home diving plans for 7 to 10 year olds. Two weeks build up, the third eases off, and the day before tryouts is a rest day.[1]

WEEKS	SESSIONS A WEEK	MINUTES A SESSION[2]
3	3, at most	15 to 20

Two weeks build up, then the last week eases off.

Week 1	Learn the sessions, one day at a time. Do sessions 1, 2 and 3, with a rest day between. Write your self-check number in session 1.
Week 2	The same sessions again, a little smoother. Repeat sessions 1, 2 and 3. Let your child lead the one they like most.
Week 3	Lighter, so your child arrives fresh. Sessions 1 and 2 early in the week, with the self-check again in session 1. Rest the day before tryouts.

With two weeks to go, start at week 2. With four weeks, do week 1 twice. Pick days that fit your week, with a rest day between sessions.

1. Sessions: SSTracker's at-home diving plans for 7 to 10 year olds. Every drill here is open at ages 7 to 10 in the app.
2. Session limits: SSTracker's own rule for age 7, at most 3 days a week and 30 minutes a session.

Every area coaches watch at tryouts is something that grows.

Many tryouts look at a few areas like these. SSTracker's own tryout notes use these five, a coach notes only what they saw, and there is no overall grade.[1]

Pace	Quick first steps grow with practice and with rest. Arriving fresh helps more than one extra hard day.
Technique	Clean touches grow with many short, calm tries. The sessions here give your child lots of them.
Reading the game	Looking up and choosing well grow by playing. After a game, ask about one good choice they made.
Physical	Balance, landing and core strength are part of every warm-up here. Every body grows at its own pace.
Attitude	Trying again after a mistake, listening and cheering a teammate are things every player can bring.

Skills these sessions train: Approach & Start, Takeoff, Line & Form, Entry.

Your child compares only with their own earlier number.

The test: Floor Hurdle Walk: your own number.

1. Tryout areas: the five areas in SSTracker's own tryout notes for coaches.

Every session starts with the same moving warm-up.

Diving Warm-Up, Ages 7 to 10 [1]

1. Jog easy for 1 minute, then skip for 30 seconds.
2. Moving warm-up over about 10 yards and back, once each: high knees, heel flicks, side shuffles facing both ways, and grapevine steps.
3. Leg swings holding a fence, wall or partner's shoulder: 8 forward and back, then 8 side to side, each leg.
4. Walking lunges with a reach to the sky, 5 each leg, then 5 slow squats.
5. Balance on one leg for 15 seconds each side, then again while you circle your arms slowly.
6. Jump and land: 5 two-footed jumps forward, landing softly with knees over toes; freeze each landing for a count of 2.
7. Sport moves on dry land: arm swings overhead, tall stands on your toes with arms by your ears, and 5 small two-footed jumps with soft landings. No jumps into the pool until your coach says.

In these sessions the warm-up is the short version, 4 minutes: steps 1, 6 and 7. The full routine takes 8 minutes.

A flat, clear space with room to run. Stop if anything hurts: a warm-up should leave you ready, not tired. Do this on land, out of the water; get in only when your coach or a lifeguard says.

Every session ends with a few minutes of gentle stretches.

Diving Cool-Down Stretches, Ages 7 to 10: each stretch held a slow count of 10, never to pain.

In these sessions the cool-down is the short version, 3 minutes: steps 1 to 4 only. The full routine takes 5 minutes.

1. Warm-up and cool-down: SSTracker's routines for this age, with the research at sstracker.app/warm-ups-and-stretches.

Have these ready before the first session.

Pack the bag together the day before.

ON TRYOUT DAY

- What the program asks for: read its sign-up together.
- A full water bottle.
- The swimsuit, cap and goggles your child trains in.
- A towel and a warm layer for after.
- A snack for after.

The night before, calm matters more than practice.

- No new drills tonight. The work is already done.
- Pack the bag together, then set it by the door.
- A normal dinner, some water and the usual bedtime.
- Tell your child one thing you saw them grow at in these weeks.
- Nerves are normal. Say so, and that you feel them too sometimes.
- Whatever happens tomorrow, your love and pride stay the same.

AFTER TRYOUTS

- Ask what was fun, and what they want to practice next.
- Talk about their own growth, never about other children.

When to stop

- Stop if anything hurts, knees and heels too.
- Stop if landings get noisy or wobbly, or form breaks down. Rest, then try again easier.
- Thunder: go inside. Heat signs (dizzy, headache, feeling sick, confused, unusually tired): stop, rest in the shade and drink water.

After a knock to the head [1]

- Stop right away. No more play today. See a doctor before playing again.
- Call 911 for danger signs: throwing up again and again, a seizure, can't stay awake, a headache that gets worse, slurred speech, or one pupil bigger than the other.

Whatever happens at tryouts, your child is enough.

Practice makes progress, because there is no such thing as perfect.
