SWIMMING · AGES 14 AND UP

Ages 14 and up: three calm weeks before tryouts.

Short sessions at home are enough to arrive ready.

3 sessions a week of 15 minutes, from SSTracker's at-home swimming plans for 14 year olds and older. Two weeks build up, the third eases off, and the day before tryouts is a rest day.[1]

WEEKS	SESSIONS A WEEK	MINUTES A SESSION[2]
3	3, at most	15

Two weeks build up, then the last week eases off.

Week 1	Learn the sessions, one day at a time. Do sessions 1, 2 and 3, with a rest day between. Write your self-check number in session 1.
Week 2	The same sessions again, a little smoother. Repeat sessions 1, 2 and 3. Let your child lead the one they like most.
Week 3	Lighter, so your child arrives fresh. Sessions 1 and 2 early in the week, with the self-check again in session 1. Rest the day before tryouts.

With two weeks to go, start at week 2. With four weeks, do week 1 twice. Pick days that fit your week, with a rest day between sessions.

This packet online, with links to every drill: sstracker.app/tryout-prep/swimming

1. Sessions: SSTracker's at-home swimming plans for 14 year olds and older. Every drill here is open at every age from 14 in the app.
2. Session limits: SSTracker's own rule for age 14, at most 5 days a week and 60 minutes a session.

Every area coaches watch at tryouts is something that grows.

Many tryouts look at a few areas like these. SSTracker's own tryout notes use these five, a coach notes only what they saw, and there is no overall grade.[1]

Pace	Quick first steps grow with practice and with rest. Arriving fresh helps more than one extra hard day.
Technique	Clean touches grow with many short, calm tries. The sessions here give your child lots of them.
Reading the game	Looking up and choosing well grow by playing. After a game, ask about one good choice they made.
Physical	Balance, landing and core strength are part of every warm-up here. Every body grows at its own pace.
Attitude	Trying again after a mistake, listening and cheering a teammate are things every player can bring.

Skills these sessions train: Endurance, Race Mindset, Streamline & Breakouts, Speed.

Your child compares only with their own earlier number.

The test: Broad Jump and Stick: your own number.

Week 1, first session _____

Week 3, first session _____

What feels easier now? _____

Compare only with your own week 1 number. Any number is fine: it shows where you are today, not who you are.

1. Tryout areas: the five areas in SSTracker's own tryout notes for coaches.

Every session starts with the same moving warm-up.

Swimming Warm-Up, Ages 14 and Up[1]

1. Jog easy for 1 minute, then skip, side shuffle and backpedal for 1 minute.
2. Moving warm-up over 15 to 20 yards: high knees, heel flicks, carioca each way, walking knee hugs and walking quad pulls (one step in each, no long holds).
3. Leg swings, 10 each way each leg; walking lunges with a twist, 6 each leg; then 5 inchworms (walk your hands out to a plank and back).
4. Strength: plank 30 seconds, side plank 20 seconds each side, 8 slow squats, and 6 single-leg reaches each side (hinge forward on one leg with a flat back).
5. Single-leg hops: 3 small hops forward on one leg, holding the last landing for 2 seconds; each leg twice.
6. Cuts: run 5 yards, plant and cut at about 45 degrees off the outside foot, 4 each way at three-quarter speed, knee over the toes.
7. Build-up runs: three runs of about 20 yards at 60, 80 and 90 percent; walk back each time.
8. Sport moves on dry land: big arm circles both ways, then slow practice strokes standing up (freestyle arms, then backstroke arms). In the pool, start with easy, relaxed lengths when your coach says.

In these sessions the warm-up is the short version, 4 minutes: steps 1, 5 and 8. The full routine takes 12 minutes.

A flat, clear space with room to run. Stop if anything hurts: a warm-up should leave you ready, not tired. Do this on land, out of the water; get in only when your coach or a lifeguard says.

Every session ends with a few minutes of gentle stretches.

Swimming Cool-Down Stretches, Ages 14 and Up: each stretch held 20 to 30 seconds, never to pain.

In these sessions the cool-down is the short version, 3 minutes: steps 1 to 4 only. The full routine takes 8 minutes.

1. Warm-up and cool-down: SSTracker's routines for this age, with the research at sstracker.app/warm-ups-and-stretches.

Have these ready before the first session.

FOR THE SESSIONS AT HOME

- Tape or chalk line
- Open space
- Notebook
- Mat
- Flat surface
- Light resistance band

Week 1: learn the sessions, one day at a time.

Do sessions 1, 2 and 3, with a rest day between. Write your self-check number in session 1.

Session 1: Endurance: Broad Jump and Stick — 15 min

1.	Warm-up, short version: steps 1, 5 and 8	4 min
2.	Broad Jump and Stick	4 min
3.	Race Plan Card	4 min
4.	Cool-down, short version: steps 1 to 4 only	3 min

Drills: Broad Jump and Stick, Race Plan Card

Session 2: Endurance: Split Squats and Bridges — 15 min

1.	Warm-up, short version: steps 1, 5 and 8	4 min
2.	Split Squats and Bridges	4 min
3.	Streamline Squat Jumps	4 min
4.	Cool-down, short version: steps 1 to 4 only	3 min

Drills: Split Squats and Bridges, Streamline Squat Jumps

Session 3: Endurance: Band Shoulder Rotations — 15 min

1.	Warm-up, short version: steps 1, 5 and 8	4 min
2.	Band Shoulder Rotations	4 min
3.	Quick Feet Line Hops	4 min
4.	Cool-down, short version: steps 1 to 4 only	3 min

Drills: Band Shoulder Rotations, Quick Feet Line Hops

Week 2: the same sessions again, a little smoother.

Repeat sessions 1, 2 and 3. Let your child lead the one they like most.

DAY	WHAT	MINUTES	DONE
Day 1	Session 1	15	◯
Day 3	Session 2	15	◯
Day 5	Session 3	15	◯

Week 3: lighter, so your child arrives fresh.

Sessions 1 and 2 early in the week, with the self-check again in session 1. Rest the day before tryouts.

DAY	WHAT	MINUTES	DONE
Day 1	Session 1 + self-check	15	◯
Day 3	Session 2	15	◯
The day before	Rest. Pack the bag together.	·	◯

Pack the bag together the day before.

ON TRYOUT DAY

- What the program asks for: read its sign-up together.
- A full water bottle.
- The swimsuit, cap and goggles your child trains in.
- A towel and a warm layer for after.
- A snack for after.

The night before, calm matters more than practice.

- No new drills tonight. The work is already done.
- Pack the bag together, then set it by the door.
- A normal dinner, some water and the usual bedtime.
- Tell your child one thing you saw them grow at in these weeks.
- Nerves are normal. Say so, and that you feel them too sometimes.
- Whatever happens tomorrow, your love and pride stay the same.

AFTER TRYOUTS

- Ask what was fun, and what they want to practice next.
- Talk about their own growth, never about other children.

When to stop

- Stop if anything hurts, knees and heels too.
- Stop if landings get noisy or wobbly, or form breaks down. Rest, then try again easier.
- Thunder: go inside. Heat signs (dizzy, headache, feeling sick, confused, unusually tired): stop, rest in the shade and drink water.

After a knock to the head[1]

- Stop right away. No more play today. See a doctor before playing again.
- Call 911 for danger signs: throwing up again and again, a seizure, can't stay awake, a headache that gets worse, slurred speech, or one pupil bigger than the other.

Whatever happens at tryouts, your child is enough.

Practice makes progress, because there is no such thing as perfect.

More free drills, warm-ups and weekly plans: sstracker.app/drills. No account needed.

1. After a knock to the head: the CDC's HEADS UP guidance (same words as every SSTracker stop card).